

E. Elliott Crutchfield, Jr.
Chief Executive Officer

Elliott Crutchfield serves as CEO of Crutchfield Capital, focusing his energies on providing guidance and assistance to existing portfolio companies and pursuing new acquisitions and investments. Mr. Crutchfield has served as CEO of four different operating companies in which he or the firm maintained a controlling interest.

Prior to founding Crutchfield Capital, Mr. Crutchfield held positions with Security Capital Group Inc. (a real estate investment and management firm) and NationsBank Corporation (now Bank of America).

Mr. Crutchfield serves on the the Board of Aymira, Inc. and the Advisory Board of CapitalSouth Partners. He serves and has served a variety of civic and charitable organizations including The Fletcher School (Chairman), The United Way of Central Carolinas, The Asheville School and Charlotte Emergency Housing. He is an active member of Young Presidents Organization (YPO).

He received his M.B.A. from the Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania, and his B.A. in Economics from Davidson College.